JUDGE

Are you ready to dive into the world of debate, where viewpoints fight, and minds are opened? "JUDGE" is not just a card game; it's a journey of self-discovery, empathy, and intellectual growth. It's not about defending what you believe in; it's about expanding your horizons by delving into topics from all angles. Sometimes, you'll need to champion a stance that contradicts your personal beliefs. Get ready to be pushed out of your comfort zone!

In this game, words are your greatest weapons. As you speak your thoughts aloud, you'll learn that even the most convincing arguments can make you pause and rethink your position. Who knows? You might discover new facets of your own perspective along the way.

In a world where judgments are often swift and unfair, "JUDGE" teaches you the art of empathy. Are you ready to embark on an intellectual adventure? The journey promises to be enlightening, thought-provoking, and incredibly fun.

R

The judge and lawyers participate in the game. Everyone should behave as if they were in a courtroom, and judges should be addressed as "Your honour".

U

There is always one judge and a minimum of 2 lawyers (teams with more lawyers are possible, but with the same number of members).

L

The judge takes the cards and places one on the table, showing everyone the topic for debate. The referee gives the teams cards with the words "defense" or "attack" without looking at the cards. Defense means that the lawyer representing the team has to defend the argument presented by the judge, even though he may have contrary beliefs. An attack card means that the lawyer on the team must attack and oppose the topic, even though he may have contrary beliefs.

The judge gives one minute for both sides to prepare, and the presentation lasts no longer than 1 minute, and one lawyer from the team always comes out (lawyers must change, each lawyer from the team must speak during the game, without the right to speak 2 times in a row).

When both sides have finished, the judge gives a point to whoever he thinks had the better arguments or simply awards the point to whoever he wants. The judge reserves the right to ask questions, but does not have to justify his verdict.

After that, the judge gives a new topic again (every time a new topic). He also deals the "defense" and "attack" cards again. The game is played until one side reaches 5 points.

HAVE FUN!

CARD GAME

JUDGE

Dear people in charge of printing,

The card with the logo and the title "Card Game" can be the front page for the box. Feel free to make any changes and adjust the box size-totally allowed.

Orange cards should have an orange face. Other cards should have a face with the logo (except the one without a design).

Print the game rules and introduction on plain paper, not cards. Make it larger so it's easy to read.

Please correct any mistakes you see. Adjust the text size or card dimensions if needed.

You're the professionals, so you know best.

Cheers,

The Judge Team
